IN CHONGQING, CHINA

The world's largest inland port city, Chongqing is located in Southwestern China where the Yangtze and Jialing Rivers meet. The city was founded nearly 3000 years ago when the Ba-Yu civilization first established itself here. Later, during the Song Dynasty, the city was named Chongqing which in Chinese means "Double Happiness."

In today's Chongqing, you can see the fusion of old and new, modern and traditional.

Feedbacks from Participants

For all the beautiful teachers & volunteers, I could never thank you enough for the hard work, organization, kindness & passion you all showed during these two weeks. You all made us feel so welcome & at home, nothing was ever too much trouble & everything was always done with a smile! The energy you guys have is incredible & so inspiring! Goodluck with all your future careers & don't forget there is always a place for all of you in Adelaide! Thank you all so so so much!!! We all came as strangers & have left as family!

Dear wonderful teachers and volunteers! Thanks for every moment shared with me and also with my friends from Malaysia. You guys are great and amazing! Within 2 weeks in here, I've got so much happiness, generosity, kindness and also the most crucial one, the memories. I really enjoyed to be here especially with you guys. Hoping to meet you all again and hope that the friendship built will last forever.

Thanks for everything. ☺
